Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I just tested the endpoint up- and download speeds that our ISP, Sonic (an AT&T competitor in our neighborhood) provides to our home. Answer: 937 Mbs both directions. Sonic also gives us telephone and VPN services at no additional charge. This competition has forced AT&T to drop its ISP rates in our area (and for inferior service). It is little wonder that AT&T would like Sonic and similar small providers to go away. If that happens, what do you think AT&T is likely to do with regard to both rates and service.

Please let competition thrive! That's capitalism.
